Many people have left their homes to seek protection from war, civil war or other crises. Many have settled in Berlin. They are adjusting to a life in Germany and remain connected to their homeland. What can a life in peace look like after so much violence, destruction and injuries, many will ask themselves? Am I able to do something myself, perhaps already now?

In these workshops, you will develop your visions for peaceful coexistence in your homeland. To achieve this goal, you will work out practical steps for action. We will support you by introducing various concepts and practical methods for change processes in crisis areas. In the workshop, you will apply this knowledge to further develop your steps for action.

Topics and dates, each from 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.

- 28 October 2022: Visions for the future - Introduction
- 30 October 2022: Transformation and change processes
- 4 November 2022: My contribution for a peaceful future

Methods

- Development of visions for the future
- Getting to know concepts from peace and conflict research
- Getting to know and apply methods of civil crisis transformation, e.g. peace and conflict analyses, approaches to civil conflict transformation, etc.
- Development of a personal action plan and/or concrete project
